What Our Learners Say

Real reviews from legal professionals who completed the course.

“

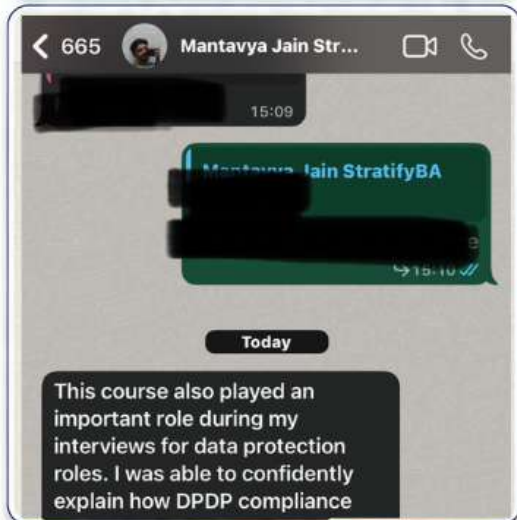

The recent session on “DPDP Compliance: From Policy to Provable Accountability” was extremely insightful and practical. The 16 compliance pointers, structured under four pillars, provided a clear and systematic way to understand the requirements of the Act.

What made the session particularly impactful was the detailed case study. Instead of limiting the discussion to theory, the case study demonstrated how the relevant sections of the Act connect with real organizational practices. It clearly showed how each compliance pointer translates into actual responsibilities, controls, and accountability measures.

This practical mapping of law to implementation made the session highly valuable and meaningful. It was truly a worthwhile learning experience.

“

This course also played an important role during my interviews for data protection roles. I was able to confidently explain how DPDP compliance works in a practical setting. What really helped was the way the course focused on applying concepts through workflows and checklists. Because I had already practiced compliance on hypothetical case studies, I wasn't just giving theoretical answers I could clearly walk the interviewer through how things would actually be implemented. This made a big difference in my confidence and how I presented my understanding.

“

Really found the DPDP case study session very useful 👍

The practical approach helped me understand how data protection works beyond theory especially things like data mapping, consent tracking, and risk identification.

From an EA perspective, this session was very helpful because it showed how handling sensitive data (emails, documents, client info, even pitch decks) needs structured processes and compliance thinking. It gave me clarity on how I can support better data management, confidentiality, and compliance in a professional role. Also loved the small hands-on activity in future sessions as well, it would make it even more engaging.

Thank you! 🙏🙏🙏
